RHEUMATIC PAIN
TEARING DOWN
HEALTH OF LADY

Misery in Arms, Shoulders, Back, Fingers, Limbs; New Gly-Cas is Surprising.

It is with almost unbelievable efficacy that Gly-Cas, the new vegetable medical discovery at the Campbell White Cross drug store, Dixon, gives relief in many cases of stomach, liver, bowel, blood, nerve troubles, neuritis, rheumatism. For example, a few days ago, Mrs. Mabel P. Thomas, respected Dixon lady living at 1217 Palmyra Ave., said:

Gly-Cas has proven so beneficial in my case that I do not hesitate to say that this is a medicine that will do all that is claimed for it. As a sufferer of rheumatism for three or four years I had been trying first one medicine and then another, but honestly, not until I found this Gly-Cas did I get relief. The awful rheumatism seemed to have affected my whole body. The pains were in my arms, back, shoulders and limbs and my fingers and hands had become swollen and often, there seemed no feeling in them. This continual pain of the rheumatism was affecting my general health. I was having sleepless nights and felt tired and worn out all the time. But I have found your Gly-Cas the most remarkable remedy for rheumatism I ever used. A few weeks' treatment of Gly-Cas has actually made me feel like a new person. Honestly my former pain and misery is gone now and the swelling has disappeared from my hands and fingers. I sleep restfully now and my health is just wonderfully improved. I tell you this Gly-Cas has done wonders for me."

The Gly-Cas Man is at Campbell's White Cross drug store Dixon and is daily meeting the public and explaining this new medical discovery. Sold by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.—Adv.

PAINTING TIME
Written for the Christian Science Monitor

When Spring brings days so warm and clear
We know we'll have some fun.
For dad begins to look around
To see what must be done.

He buys a can of yellow paint,
And cans of brown and gold.
He says, "The walls need touching up."
The chairs are looking old.

"The table needs a coat of paint.
The floors are dingy too.
Piazzas need a trim of white,
I see there's lots to do.

"And mother's room needs freshening.
Our things are badly worn."
But mother says if things were new
Then dad would feel forlorn.

He swings a brush all wet with paint,
And colors this and that,
And mother says perhaps some day
He'll even paint the cat!

But when the house is fresh and clean
With colors bright and new,
We all agree it's wonderful
What dad and paint can do!

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Wine sap apples, cereal cooked with dates, cream, fried cornmeal mush, syrup, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Asparagus omelet, cream and mint sandwiches, caramel cookies, milk tea.
DINNER—Roast veal, creamed macaroni, green beans with onions, tomato and lettuce salad, orange Spanish cream, milk, coffee.
An asparagus omelet makes a delightful one-piece dish for luncheon or breakfast. Several fine stalks of asparagus are saved for garnishing, but the rest is cut in inch lengths and added to a cream sauce. Half of this is folded in the cooked omelet and the rest poured around the concoction. The cooked stalks are then placed on top of the omelet and the whole served piping hot.

Minstrel Revue Was A Grand Success

(Contributed)

The Minstrel Revue given by the Dorothy Chapter Eastern Star, No. 371, under the direction of Mrs. Myrtle Rice Bishop at Dixon Masonic Temple, proved to be of exceptional caliber as have all of the entertainments given in this new building. The director, Mrs. Myrtle Rice Bishop, deserves a vast amount of praise for her ability to train and direct alone such an undertaking. Every individual who took part carried through her portion of the program absolutely perfect and with an amount of enthusiasm and skill which is exceptional in Minstrel shows. The large assembly hall was packed with spectators long before the curtain was raised and from every place in the halls and stairways and in the serving room people crowded to see this interesting revue. The stage had been beautifully decorated with spring flowers and an auxiliary stage covered with carpet was built to accommodate the large number in the cast. The program opened with an overture "In the Land of Cotton" followed by solos by Mrs. Herbert Harms, Mrs. Lee Read and Mrs. Katherine Ballou, assisted by the entire chorus, including Lucille Stauffer, Florence Wilson, Merriam Devaney, Edna Decker, Beulah Tennant, Ada Hewitt, Mary Morrill, Gertrude Carpenter, Charlotte Hintz, Pearl Rickard, Eleanor Fufts and Bess Merriman. Between the following numbers of the program the "Ends", Frances Campbell, Mary Louise Downing, Mary Thomas, Geraldine Palmer, Marian McKinney, Mildred Beiers, Frances Edwards, and Hazel Van Bibber with the aid of the interloctor, Mrs. O. L. Gearhart, had a number of new and extremely humorous jokes, most of which were directed toward some prominent member of the Masonic bodies. Mrs. Geraldine Palmer in her inimitable manner sang "Down South" assisted by a chorus of attractive dancers including Lucille Kelley, Maxine Rosenthal, Lucy Bovey, Helene Reynolds, Dorothy Bovey and Helen Murphy. This number as well as all succeeding ones merited the outstanding marks of the show and was responded to by an encore.

Lucille Trautman sang "When Love Comes Stealing" and she used exceptional expression with this sentimental new song. Mrs. Mildred Page Beier, who had an exceptional amount of pep sang "Sweet Sue" assisted by the entire chorus. This dance chorus changed costumes eight times and their dance steps, costumes and songs were all of the outstanding features of the revue. Miss Helen Edwards sang "Forevermore" exceedingly well. Mrs. Marion McGormer sang "Mississippi Mud" with such realistic expression that the audience could almost imagine the colored people dancing in the "Mississippi Mud." She was assisted by the dance chorus. Mrs. Willard Thompson, who is always exceptionally proficient sang the new popular song "Ramona" and Miss Lucille Kelley danced a Spanish dance during the chorus. This was one of the outstanding numbers on the program for both are experienced, exceptionally talented artists. Miss Frances Campbell sang "Wabaly Walk" assisted by the chorus and she was repeatedly encored. Miss Ora Floto, whose ability is well known sang "Beloved." Miss Mary Louise Downing with the entire chorus sang "My Pat" and as an encore Miss Frances Campbell sang and danced the chorus in an extremely clever manner. Miss Eva Peterson sang "Bungalow of Dreams." During the chorus the dance chorus carried on to the stage in sections a beautiful bungalow which had been built and exceptionally well painted by A. C. Handell. This number was an entire surprise and received a great deal of applause. Miss Frances Edwards in an exceptionally clever manner sang "I Told Them All About You" assisted by the dance chorus. Mary Thomas gave specialty dance which received a great deal of applause and Mrs. Myrtle Rice Bishop sang a new song of her own composition, both words and music, entitled "All I want is you, Sweetheart" assisted by the dance chorus who came from the back of the audience with flash lights playing upon various individuals. This beautiful song in the manner in which it was given received the applause of the entire audience. The finale was very clever, each of the dance chorus carried a part of the songs "Dorothy Chapter O. E. S. No. 371 Revue" and the words to the final song had been written for this event.

The costumes and lighting effects were very attractive and the committees appointed for them as well as the other committees in the various other parts deserve a great deal of praise. The floor was cleared and dancing was thoroughly enjoyed until midnight by a very large and well pleased audience. Floto's Alaskans furnished the excellent music for the selections during the program.

BUTTER AND EGG MART HAS ONE WOMAN TRADER

Rochelle—Miss Stasia Nugent, daughter of Mrs. John Nugent, of 546 South Second street and Floyd Biefang, member of the mixed quartet of the First Presbyterian church here, were quietly married by the pastor, Rev. Frank Campbell, just following the morning Mother's Day service. Miss Mildred Nugent, of Chicago, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Norman Olson, another member of the quartet, best man. Miss Mabel Oakland, church organist, played very softly, "Oh, Promise Me," by DeKoven, as the double ring service was read. The bride wore a blue crepe de chine ensemble with a picture hat and a corsage bouquet of pink roses, and the bridesmaid also wore dark blue with a corsage of roses and sweet peas.

Questions of Interest Illinois Federation

Chicago, May 16—(AP)—Two questions concerning junior members of Clubs today faced delegates to the annual Illinois Federation of Women's Club convention now in session.

The first was "how old may a clubwoman be before she becomes ineligible for junior membership," and the second, "what definite part of the program shall be given over to the junior members?"

Mrs. Martin Kent Northam of Evanston yesterday reported a junior membership of 4,700, which she said included girls from 14 to 30, who were carrying forward the work of the mother organization.

Mrs. William Harrison Cade, law enforcement chairman, predicted a heated discussion on prohibition also. As state chairman of the Women's national law enforcement committee, she will lead a delegation of Illinois women to Kansas City to work for a party prohibition plank at the Republican convention.

In an address last night, President Max Mason of the University of Chicago said: "Proper education of children should consist of putting them in all sorts of dangerous and puzzling places, up to the point of danger to life or health, and then letting them extricate themselves from their difficulties."

Mrs. J. Marc Fowler, Chicago, was nominated for the federation presidency. She has no opponent. Others nominated included Mrs. Thomas C. Wright, Newton, and Mrs. J. D. Ladd, Cairo, for second vice presidency; Mrs. W. H. Bissell, Viola, Mrs. Jo Major, Eureka, and Mrs. George Edmundson, Clinton, for third vice presidency. For the office of general federation director Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, Chicago, was nominated. Mrs. Seymour has been the state president for the past year.

March School Closed Friday With Picnic

On Friday evening, May 11th, a bountiful picnic supper was held at the March school, Dist. 52. There were 85 in attendance including patrons of the community, relatives, friends and former members of the district. This closed a highly successful term for the pupils of the school and their teacher, Sara K. McGinnis. After the delicious picnic supper a program was given by the pupils, which was greatly enjoyed by all present. Another delightful feature of the evening was the music furnished by the Will Smith Orchestra.

At a late hour the happy gathering departed for their homes feeling very grateful to the pupils, Miss McGinnis and Mr. Smith for such an enjoyable evening.

Alice Brink, Byron Weidman and Betty Lowry are the honor students for the term, having been neither absent nor tardy during the entire school year.

The graduates for this year were Alice Brink, Kenneth Weidman, Charles Haemitsch, Henry Lowry and Leroy Delhotal.

Lytle Weidman received the award for a perfect spelling record.

Short Interviews With Famous Women

By NEA Service

"The world needs religion today more than ever before. I think women have most of the responsibility for bringing religion to their children and their homes," says Commande Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army.

"Religion, it seems to me, is a supreme necessity. Religion is life, and will breathe its protective and inspiring influence through every avenue of activity. Today new temptations assail men and women that were unknown yesterday. Especially is this true of the young folks."

"The one, clear light that can show them which path to choose comes from a deep religious belief. Whether in business, the home or in social contacts, the person who has religion as his precious possession will have the more tranquil approach to his problems."

"The example of a religious mother will lay a sure foundation for life-long influence."

"Even after she has passed away, the example of a woman who had religion will defy the effacing fingers of time. From the richest and most influential to the humblest strata of human experience, a religious life will prove an inspiration for generations yet unborn."

MESSAGES FROM MARS.

Prof. Frank Schlesinger, director of the Yale University observatory, doubts very much that we ever will get into radio communication with the inhabitants of Mars.

He believes that Mars is inhabited, and thinks it possible that the Martians may have a civilization superior to our own. But he does not think they are trying to send us radio signals. And, if they are, he doubts very much that we'll ever understand them.

Prof. Schlesinger's words are timely and to the point. There is something uncanny about the thought of radio waves being hurled at us through empty space from a pin point of light away off in the outer darkness. Our own earth has problems enough, and seems very big and busy; it is discouraging to feel that far on the other side of the sun there are men of science who are debating whether our planet is inhabited, and wondering whether they can get us to talk to them, if it is.

We like to feel that we are the center of the universe. Indeed, many of us have trouble in realizing that our own continent is not all that matters. We cannot get along with the idea that life is a tremendous, star-glowing mystery. We are too earthbound. We want things simplified.

When we eliminate the mystery we can go to war. We have a good many things to do, and we can't help feeling that some of them are rather important. We blot out the sight of distant stars with factory smoke, and we overwhelm whatever distant signals may be coming to us with the noise of lathe and drill. And, on that basis, we get along very nicely.

But suppose, just once, we should get in touch with Mars. Suppose, in other words, that each of us suddenly should get a glimpse of this universe of ours as it really is—a mystery that we never can fathom, loaded with meanings too big for us to comprehend, dwarfing our mundane affairs and convincing us that we are heirs to a limitless universe, too high-born to waste our time at our customary pursuits of getting and spending, building and using. What would become of factory smoke and turning lathe then?

It's just as well we don't get the signal. We aren't ready for it. Our heads would be turned, our wits would become permanently confused. Let's hope Prof. Schlesinger is right. Some day we'll be ready for the revelation. But not yet.

THE COST OF BROKEN HOMES.

Nearly one in every three cases of juvenile delinquency involves children from a broken home, according to figures compiled by Esther Sternlieb of the University of Wisconsin as the result of a five-year study.

There's a factor to include when you try to figure out the exact significance of the "divorce evil." In our discussions of divorce we too often assume that it's a question only involving two people, the husband and the wife. Miss Sternlieb's tabulation reminds us that this isn't the case.

The plaintiff and the defendant are by no means the only interested parties in a divorce suit.

GIVE US A BIGGER NAVY!

The United States Navy has just detailed Lieut. Comm. P. V. H. Weems to teach Col. Lindbergh to navigate. Now we advocate a commission be appointed to teach General Sandino how to dodge. . . . And we used to think the firemen on an oil-burning locomotive had a soft job. . . . Too bad we hadn't a navy when Christopher Columbus set out to discover us. A maritime sub-commission might have been assigned to show the gentleman how to furl a sail.

Two young men of Lynn, Mass., told police they had been forced to walk home after taking a couple of young ladies out for a ride. The boys shouldn't take such chances.

One way of getting to the front in the city is by taking a job as motorman.

A genealogist figures that Hoover's near and distant relatives in this country number 947,356. But maybe his friends can elect him in spite of that.

Senator Heflin now is taking liberal whacks at both Smith and Hoover. Well, the senator is liberal about that, anyway.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The Tinymites looked on with awe. Said Scouty, "There, I guess our saw has done its saving job up right. The tree will grow no more. We sawed and sawed and didn't stop until we saw the great tree drop. It really was real thrilling when it went down with a roar."

And Clowny cried, "You bet it was. It rather frightened me because I feared that it would crush me when it landed on the ground. When it began to fall, 'twas near. No wonder I was filled with fear. That's why I jumped and scampered out of sight with quite a bound."

The woodsman then said, "This is done, and you'll admit that it was fun. But there is lots more work to do before the task's complete. This axe I hold quite nicely trims the little twigs and scraggy limbs. Let's see, now, who can swing it best. In contest we'll compete."

So, as the tree laid on the ground, they all took turns at chopping

'round till all the odds and ends were off. The tree-trunk now was clean. "Well," said the woodsman, "that's just great, and, if one moment you will wait, I'll bring a clever little mule of mine upon the scene."

He then cried, "Hi, there, Domino! Come forth, 'cause we are set to go. A log is here for you to pull up to the lumber camp." A little donkey then came out, which made the Tinies laugh and shout, "Oh, my," said Clowny, "Isn't he a clever little scamp?"

With chains as strong as they could be they hitched the donkey to the tree. And, as the donkey moved along, the Tinies yelled, "Hurrah! We're going to a lumber mill, and we can ride, if we sit still." So they jumped on the log, and very soon were on their way.

(The Tinymites arrive at the saw-mill in the next story.)

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Dear Mom:
Thank you a heartfelt for the chicken broth. We enjoyed it very much. Florence and I felt entitled to have a little of it as Alan is greatly improved.

He says he's going back to the office tomorrow. I don't think he should so soon, but it's not very quiet around here and he doesn't rest anyhow he claims. I think he's sore because some of the crowd came in last night and I started a couple of tables of bridge. But my goodness, I'm sick and tired of hanging around the house doing nothing.

And he had the nerve to get as mad as a wet rooster because I forgot what I went down there for. He had so many things he wanted me to ask about, and of course I forgot about half of them.

And what do you suppose he did? He grabbed the telephone and called up the office and asked that new stenographer of his to come up here.

The he wanted to know where his typewriter was. He knows very well that it's always in the closet when he isn't using it because we've had more than one argument over it. Alan simply will not remember to put it away and it's too darned heavy for me to lift. But I won't have it out; it's positively disreputable.

He had it ready on a desk when his little steno got here, but she didn't like it there and started to move it to a table. Alan jumped up and

FARM RELIEF IS PARAMOUNT ISSUE LOWDEN DECLARES

Former Governor Was Interviewed in New York by A. P.

New York, May 16—(AP)—Farm relief will be the outstanding issue in this year's presidential campaign in the opinion of Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The national election this fall will be the hardest fought in years," he said. "Make no mistake about it. The one way for the Republican party to achieve success is to maintain the alignment between the agricultural west and the industrial east. If that partnership is split the Democrats will be the victors."

The former Illinois Governor was in New York on his way home from Washington where he testified in the Senate's presidential campaign fund inquiry.

Silent on Prohibition

Prohibition he refused to discuss, saying that it was not an issue in the west and that the important problems confronting the country were economic. When asked by newspapermen if he was wet or dry he said "that is an improper question."

Mr. Lowden said he had no regrets for his refusal to accept the nomination for Vice-President in 1924. "I have never believed in holding one office merely as a stepping stone to another," he said.

He explained that he had refused the vice presidential nomination because he had previously made a positive declaration that he would not accept it.

"I didn't want to become Vice President," he said, "because I had far-reaching responsibilities in connection with a number of agricultural societies and organizations working for effective farm relief. I felt that I could remain more useful by remaining out of an office which, while taking all of one's time, would not afford opportunities for effective, active service in that cause."

No Reason for Enmity.

He said he saw no reason in his advocacy of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill for the Republican party to refuse the nomination, or for creating an unfriendly feeling for him in administration circles.

"If everyone who believes in the McNary-Haugen bill is to be read out of the Republican party there will not be much of a Republican party left in the west."

Mr. Lowden said his campaign managers assured him that he had 258 delegates already pledged to him for the Kansas City convention which is 48 more than he had on the first ballot at Chicago.

Explaining his reason for not entering the Indiana and Ohio primaries where Secretary Hoover contested with favorite son candidates for the Republican delegations, Mr. Lowden said that he had kept out of those states because he was looking ahead of the nomination to the general elections.

Was Looking Ahead.

"A candidate," he said, "can not very well go into a state and make a fight against a favorite son and incidentally a state organization without leaving bad feelings and bad blood which come back to plague him and the party during the campaign."

He said he expected the Kansas City convention to nominate a candidate in open meeting and not in a "smoke-filled room in the early morning."

While in New York Mr. Lowden conferred with his New York campaign managers and attended the New York Yankees-Detroit Tigers ball game as the guest of his friend, Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis. Although staying in the same hotel with Governor Alfred E. Smith the

MORE BEAUTY IN DAILY LIFE PLEA OF MR. COOLIDGE

Makes Address at Meeting of Art Bodies in Washington

Washington, May 16—(AP)—A plea for more art and beauty in the daily life of the American people in order that their "moral standards" might be raised was made here today by President Coolidge.

"It is especially the practical side of art that requires more emphasis," Mr. Coolidge said in an address opening a joint meeting of the American Federation of Arts and the American Association of Museums.

"We need to put more effort into translating art into the daily life of the people," he added. "If we could surround ourselves with forms of art, the evil things of life would tend to disappear and our moral standards would be raised. Through our contact with the beautiful we see more of the truth and are brought into closer contact with the infinite."

No Visionary Desire

"Our country has reached a point where this is no longer a visionary desire but is becoming an actual reality. With general prosperity, with high wages, with reasonable hours of labor, has come both the means and the time to cultivate the artistic spirit."

"Philanthropy has given the people access to all that is most beautiful in form and color. It is theirs without money and without price. If they will but go and possess it. Out of our agriculture, our commerce and our industry, we can see already emerging a new spirit. The potential is becoming actual."

"Through science and invention, gradually but surely, we are banishing the drudgery of existence and bringing into every avenue of living a touch of the artistic. We are working out the ideal under which every one will realize that they are artists, in their employment, in their recreation and in their relations with one another.

Cites Two Instances

President Coolidge cited the Chicago World Fair of 1893 and the Washington Plan Commission created in 1901 as two mighty influences in the artistic awakening of the United States. The great development of museums was praised by him as affording inspiration for a revival of beauty in this country.

"Aid in the extension of your work has been given by various philanthropic endowments," Mr. Coolidge told his audience.

"One is interested in the elevation of industrial arts in America on the sound theory that beauty in a commercial product is worth while, not only materially, but also esthetically, and that it gives an opportunity to bring art into the home." A number of prominent educators were here to join with the authorities on art, science and history in an effort to coordinate the museum resources of the country in the interests of education.

First Co-ordination

This is the first time that such an organized effort toward coordination has been made, and the last day of the meeting will be devoted to open discussion of its possibilities.

Laurence Vail Coleman, director of the Museum Association, in his report of the fifty year of the association's establishment in Washington, said that coordination and comparative study is as important to the different specialized branches of museum and educational work as comparative anatomy is to the general study of anatomy. He also urged special training for museum personnel analogous to that of librarians.

The Federation of Arts' success in sending our 44 traveling exhibitions of paintings during the past year was emphasized in the annual report of Miss Lella Mehlun, secretary of the organization.

The success of the "trailside Museum" method of labeling trees and rocks in national and state parks also was described by Coleman, who announced a grant of $118,000 from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial National Park. It has already been inaugurated in the palisades interstate park, Canyon National Park and the Yosemite Valley.

A further grant of $10,000, he said, has been made for the expense of a committee to be appointed by the secretary of the interior for a survey of educational work in national parks.

Thinking Citizens Should Rule Nation

Chicago, May 16—(AP)—Thinking citizens, and not voting groups, should rule America, state Senator Kessinger of Aurora, for the past fourteen years a member of the Illinois legislature, told the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs here today.

"Modern America," he said, "is confronted by stereotyped education, movie-made culture, newspaper-made opinions, organization views, machine politics and automobile nerves."

"Tomorrow we will have a better America. We will make a better judgment to our mechanistic civilization. We will find how to use our machine-won leisure."

"With much won from mechanistic progress and cooperative efficiency, we will learn to turn back to independent thinking and individualistic living. As steam made the city and congested population, so will electricity and gasoline, quick transportation and rapid communication, redistribute population.

"We will learn how to mingle with the crowd without surrendering to it. Tomorrow, thinking citizens and not voting groups will rule America."

Guernsey Cattle Club Opens Annual Meeting

Chicago, May 16—(AP)—The American Guernsey Cattle Club, with a membership of 19,000 extending into every state and several foreign countries, was to hold its annual meeting here today.

The club keeps all records on pure bred Guernsey cattle owned by its members. Robert Scoville of New York City is president of the association. The executive committee membership includes Fred K. Babson, Riverside, Ill.

Several proposed insertions and amendments to the club's constitution will be offered reports of the secretary-treasurer will be submitted and the annual election of officers held.

In conjunction with the meet in Chicago, the national Guernsey Sale will be held on the Chicago Guernsey Farm at Hinsdale. Eighty head are to be sold at public auction, Thursday.

day. In the past cattle sold here averaged more than $1,000 a head.

On the following two days, Friday and Saturday, May 18 and 19, a dispersal sale of the Guernsey herd owned by William Larsen Canning company of Green Bay, Wis., will be held at the Wisconsin State Fair grounds at Milwaukee.

Indications of the growth in popularity of Guernsey cattle are noted with the club's reports that as many pure bred Guernsey cattle were registered last year as during the first 30 years of its history.

According to Federal Department of Agriculture figures, 15.61 per cent of Guernseys sold during 1927, brought a price of $300 a head.

George Herman Ruth has a fine start toward realization of ambitions to make more home runs this season than ever.

The Babe slugged two balls into the grandstands at New York yesterday to aid the Yankees down the Detroit Tigers for the fourth straight day, 12 to 8, and put himself eight games ahead of the schedule that carried him to a new home run record of 60 last season. He also got a triple.

Those two drives brought his total for the season to eleven in 26 games. Both of Ruth's homers came with the bases empty.

Tris Speaker hit three doubles to earn his day's salary.

Charlie Ruffing gave up but five hits as the Boston Red Sox ran their winning streak to four games at the expense of the St. Louis Browns' 3 to 1. Hofman drove in the last two Boston runs with singles in the seventh and eighth innings.

The Chicago White Sox made good use of their six hits and beat the Washington Senators, 3 to 2. Ted Lyons reappeared on the White Sox mound as a relief pitcher in the ninth.

The Chicago Cubs moved into a tie for first place with the Cincinnati Reds by downing the New York Giants for the fourth consecutive day, 10 to 7, while the Reds were losing to the Phillies, 5 to 3.

The Cubs pounded out 16 hits off Barnes and Clarkson to down McGraw's aggregation and register their 10th win in a row. Maguire led the attack with four safe blows.

Hurst, recruit first baseman, hit a home run with two on to enable the Phils to snap a 10-game losing streak. Red Lucas was charged with his second defeat of the year.

Homers by Harper and Hafey gave the Cardinals all their runs in a 3 to 1 victory over the Boston Braves at St. Louis. Rain halted the game in the last half of the seventh.

The Brooklyn Robins made it three in a row by beating the Pirates at Pittsburgh, 10 to 3. Three Corsair pitchers were hit had while McWeeny was turning in a neat seven-hit performance.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Chicago — Napoleon Jack Dorval, Emporia, Pa., defeated Otto von Porat, Norway (10). Johnny Kreiger, New York, won on foul from Jimmy Mahoney, Chicago (10). Frankie Sims, Cleveland, won on foul from Tony Stabenau, Buffalo (4). Mike Mandell, St. Paul, defeated Paul Swiderski, New York (6).

Kansas City, Kans.—Big Bill Hartwell, Kansas City, technically knocked out Jack Johnson, former world's heavyweight champion (6).

Dorval Wins "Race" With Otto v. Porat

Chicago, May 16—(AP)—Napoleon Jack Dorval of Emporia, Pa., took Otto Von Porat, the Norwegian heavyweight, for a 10 round bicycle race last night and won a fight. The defeat ended Von Porat's string of consecutive knockout victories at four.

Dorval, taking a leaf from the seventh round of the Tunney-Dempsey fight here last September, rode around the ring backward much of the time, hotly pursued by Von Porat. From time to time, however, the Emporian stopped, rested his velocipede against the ropes and went to work with both hands on the Von Porat anatomy.

The Dorval victory was by a narrow margin and was won with one eye, the left being sealed in the second round when Von Porat was at his most damaging gait.

McLarnin Close to Even Money Today

New York, May 16—(AP)—A rush of west coast support sending the odds down to 5 to 3 on the champion, indicated today that Jimmy McLarnin, Los Angeles slugger, would be close to an even choice when he seeks to wrest the lightweight crown from Sammy Mandell at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night.

Until the McLarnin money began pouring in Mandell had ruled a 7 to 5 favorite. The McLarnin backers were asking 2-1 to 1 that the coast star knocks out the champion. A bet of $1,000 at these odds was reported by one Broadway firm.

While Mandell was confining his activities to some road work and enough exercise to keep his muscles limber at his training camp in Orangeburgh, N. Y., the challenger unexpectedly put on the gloves and boxed four fast rounds with Ritchie Randolph, a sparring partner, at Rempson Lake, N. J. Both plan to come to New York tomorrow in time for weighing-in in the afternoon.

Waivers Asked on Sisler by Senators

Washington, May 16—(AP)—Although waivers have been asked on George Sisler, utility first baseman of the Senators, indications are that he will draw his pay check from the Washington club for some time to come.

No American League claimed Sisler at the waiver price of $7,500 and Clark Griffith, president of the Senators, said last night that the player would not be traded or released.

Griffith explained that waivers are often asked on players with a view to learning what clubs are in the market for talent. He also said that the Chicago American League club had made him an offer for Sisler and "Muddy" Ruel, catcher, but that he had not considered this proposal seriously.

Winners of the 14 district meets held in the state are entitled to enter all point-winning members of their teams, while first and second place winners on all other teams are eligible.

Rockford, winner last year, will defend its championship against this season as winner of the Northwestern district. Other district champions are: Elgin, Oak Park, Moline, Streator, Monmouth, Peoria Central, Staunton, Lawrenceville, West Frankfort, Urbana, Palmyra, Mattoon and Tilden of Chicago.

The trials will be run off Friday at 1:15 P. M. and the finals Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

U. of I. Gets Land in Corn-Borer Area

Urbana, Ill., May 16—(AP)—Transporting a small section of the Illinois corn belt to the corn-borer infested area of northern Ohio this year, agriculturists here have announced they will institute a series of experiments, designed to arm Illinois farmers with facts they will need in fighting "the worst of all crop pests."

Twenty acres of land have been set aside in the Ohio area by the federal department of agriculture for the use of the experiment station of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, and the Illinois State Natural Survey. Corn will be grown there under conditions similar to those in Illinois. Agriculturists expect to establish, in this experiment, the growing habits of varieties of corn raised in Illinois under corn-borer infestation conditions.

A rotation of corn, soybeans, wheat and sweet clover, a typical rotation for this state, will be grown for the next five years. This will give five acres for corn and on this acreage about 40 varieties from Illinois will be grown annually. These varieties and strains will include the leading commercial types now common in the state and, in addition, certain strains developed at Bloomington by J. R. Holbert, of the federal department of agriculture, and at Urbana by the agricultural experiment station. These varieties are those which for one reason or another offer promise of being more or less resistant to the corn borer.

During the summers of the five-year experiment, an entomologist of the natural history survey will be stationed at this field to keep careful records of the attacks of the corn borer on each of the kinds of Illinois corn, the number of eggs deposited on each variety, the way the borers, or larvae, establish themselves in plants of the different varieties and the effect of the insects on the plants. Studies also will be made of diseased and disease-free corn to ascertain any difference in the way the insects affects these plants.

Yields of corn from the different strains and varieties will be measured in the fall by agronomists of the experiment station.

Through several years of such studies it is hoped to be able to tell in advance what kinds of corn now generally grown in Illinois are most likely to be injured by the borer and what kinds are most resistant. There also is the possibility of developing resistant strains adapted to Illinois soils.

EMPLOYMENT IN STATE DECREASED DURING LAST MO.

Labor Difficulty in Mining Districts Caused Decline

Chicago, Ill., May 16—(AP)—Industrial employment in Illinois declined 2.5 per cent in April largely as a result of labor difficulties in coal mining districts and a seasonal slackening of business in many leading lines of manufacturing activity, the state department of labor reported today.

Employment in foundries was less than it was a month ago. The experience of the manufacturing during the majority of the last five years indicates that a falling off in factory employment during April, May, June and July is a usual seasonal even.

Total payrolls of industries of all classes have declined 4.0 per cent. The average wage for all industries is $29.13. Manufacturing payrolls have fallen off 14 per cent.

As indicated by the free employment office ratio the volume of unemployment has declined from 173 applicants per every 100 positions to 156 in April. Last year the ratio stood at 154. Improvement is due largely to an increased demand for outdoor workers on roads and other construction work. The demand for farm labor is lagging behind its usual record, largely because good weather conditions have enabled farmers to get into their fields earlier in the season and do a greater part of their work themselves.

Total employment in metal establishments has declined 0.7 per cent during April. The reduction of working forces was not a general policy, and is due almost entirely to layoffs on the part of large units. Machine manufacturers' payrolls reflect the sharp upturn of orders in that industry with a gain in employment of 1.1 per cent. Automobile establishments have reduced their working forces.

Seasonal upturn of 3.1 per cent in employment of building products industries is slightly less than the usual April gain. Losses in glass factories were greater than they usually are at this period.

Employment in wood products establishments was carried downward by further losses in the furniture industry. Conditions are dull in this industry. Lumber mills received support from building contractors with the result that 5.1 per cent more names were added to their payrolls.

Chemical products factories report an upturn of 4 per cent, most of which is due to a pickup in oil refineries which have added 2.1 per cent more workers to their staffs. The gain is a reversal of the April movement of the last two years.

Paper and printing products establishments report a 1.7 per cent reduction of working forces. The greatest losses appear on the statements of printing establishments whose working forces are 3.9 per cent smaller than in March, and 18 per cent less than a year ago.

A reduction of 4.5 per cent in the working forces of clothing manufacturers is in line with previous April policies. Men's clothing manufacturers report a decline of 7.3 per cent, and in women's clothing factories a 4.5 per cent reduction is noted. Textile and cloth products factories also report cuts in working forces. Boot and shoe factories have declined 4.7 per cent, and in fur products factories a 4.5 per cent reduction is noted.

"It keeps them on their toes," said Betty. "And that means high arches and pretty feet."

Food establishments report losses amounting to 2.7 per cent. A falling off of 4.6 per cent in the working forces of meat packers and losses in candy factories and bakeries were largely responsible for the present drop which is in line with the April experience of previous years. The greatest gains made in the group are reported by grocery and dairy establishments.

The trade group reports a decline of 6 per cent. The experience of previous years has varied so widely that no definite seasonal movement has been experienced in any of the groups, except department stores which ordinarily add to their forces as they have done at the present time. Mail order houses report a falling off of 1.9 per cent in the volume of employment.

The public utility group has added 1.3 per cent more names to its payroll. Car repair shops were the only exceptions to the general increase, and in this line, it appears that the reduction of downstate traffic has resulted in the decline in the number of workers needed to maintain equipment.

A drop of 79.3 per cent in employment of coal mines during the first two weeks of April has taken place. Beginning with the third week operations were once more continued under temporary local agreements. Late reports indicate that the coming month will show a sharp upturn both in production and in the volume of employment.

Building employment continued to score gains, although building activity as indicated by permits has fallen off. Road builders also report a sharp upturn of 97.3 per cent which has been general in all parts of the state.

OUR TREES

YEW AND YEOMANRY

In the early wars the yeoman drew a long bow made of the tough wood of his native yew. The bows of Robin Hood and his merry band were fashioned of yew and the wood has long been prized above all others for archery.

There are two species of yew in the United States, the western yew which ranges from Alaska to southern California and east to Montana, and the Florida yew which grows only along the east bank of the Apalachicola river in the northwestern corner of the state.

The western yew is a small tree, seldom exceeding a diameter of 12 inches or a height of 40 feet. It occurs sparingly in the forest and the best trees for bow material are found only in deep, dark gulches.

The Alaska Indian cuts his spear shafts, bows and paddles from it. The Florida yew furnishes a small amount of wood for archery use.

The yew last indefinitely in soil and exposed to the weather. Its grain is often as beautiful as mahogany. The roots sometimes show wavy areas which when polished vie in beauty with the ancient and precious citron wood.

In the folk lore of the English cottagers the yew was saddest of all trees except the cypress. Branches of yew were gathered to deck the house where a body lay awaiting burial. The heads of mourners were bound with haphets of yew. Yews were planted in churchyards.

The yew is long-lived. It was regarded in some places as the emblem of immortality. The name yew is believed to come from the same root as "ewig," the German word meaning "everlasting."

The eastern yew of the United States, commonly but incorrectly called ground hemlock, never assumes tree form, but is a sprawling shrub.

THE SECRET

"I thought your wife's name was Elizabeth?"

"So it is."

"Then why do you call her Peggy?"

"Short for Pegasus."

"What has that to do with it?"

"Why Pegasus is feminine for Pegasus."

"Well?"

"Well, Pegasus is an immortal steed."

"What of that?"

"Not so loud! She's in the next room. You see, an immortal steed is an everlasting nag—so there you are."

GLENNA COLLETT BEATEN TODAY IN BRITISH TOURNEY

Terrible Weather Had Much to Do With Her Defeat

Hunstanton, Eng., May 15—(AP)—Inability to cope with English spring weather at its worst and the steadiness of Mabel Wragg, determined little Yorkshire woman, today removed Glenna Collett from the British golf championship in the fourth round. The American girl's ambition to take the trophy to the United States for the first time was shattered when she lost 3 up and 2 to play in a match in which she never was on her game.

Miss Collett's defeat, one of the greatest upsets of British golf, was due in part to the weather conditions which included hail, rain and cold, but it is only fair to say that the English girl adjusted her game to the prevailing conditions better than the American player.

The American challenger might have weathered the storm and won if she had been able to sink some of her putts early in the match. But her hands were numb with cold, the putter grip wet and slippery and her putting on the outward holes contributed to her later defeat.

The storm also swept Miss Elizabeth Curtis, Clinton, Iowa, and Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, out of the championship, leaving Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, but born in Britain, as the lone American challenger.

Miss Collett's mother was the first to greet her as she stepped off the green at the end of the match. Miss Curtis and the other Americans actually wept over the defeat of their star. Glenna's eyes were dimmed, too, but with dissatisfaction at her unsuccessful attempts to control the ball rather than at losing her chance at the championship.

When told that she had put up a plucky fight under the most trying conditions, she replied:

"Like fun, I did. I never played such rotten golf in my life."

HOW YOU CAN BUY A CONSTANT VISCOSITY MOTOR OIL—ISO-VIS!

Troubles aren't what they used to be in motoring! Thanks to Iso-Vis. In the old days there was one lubrication trouble that was so common that people thought it had to be. They took it for granted and made the best of it. Of course, they said—there is no way to overcome dilution in the crank enough to give easy starting. A motor oil that is light enough to give easy starting will thin out and fail to lubricate the engine under working conditions. A motor oil that is heavy enough to give correct lubrication under working conditions will fail to give easy starting.

Compromise by buying a medium oil and the results will be a compromise—neither correct lubrication for easy starting nor for working conditions.

Satisfactory lubrication seemed impossible! But the engineering staff of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) went to work on it. At last they solved the dilution problem! They found that there is a definite ratio of dilution in the crankcase of every car. By combining a carefully refined diluent with a heavier oil they perfected a constant viscosity motor oil—Iso-Vis!

No need to compromise now! You can buy a motor oil that permits easy starting and gives correct lubrication under working conditions. You can buy a motor oil that permits a practically constant viscosity. Engineers praise Iso-Vis. Motorists are enthusiastic. It's the motor oil of today! When you've driven a car lubricated with Iso-Vis you'll understand its popularity. Be sure to try it!

HEALTH & DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy
Why the Fast Way to Health?

Dr. McCoy, Los Angeles specialist, will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Telegraph. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

PESKY PUS POCKETS

Many people who suffer with diseases of an obscure cause have been told that their teeth or tonsils must come out, or that their sinuses must be drained. These infections are now considered by many physicians as being a cause of diseases such as rheumatism, neuralgia, or neuritis. This means that a pus pocket with no external drainage has formed in some part of the body, and that this poison is absorbed by the blood and carried to other parts. This type of pus pocket is termed a "focal" infection. The doctor therefore tries to search out these poison pockets and to treat them with medical applications or surgery. It is true that this method of treatment sometimes brings temporary relief, but it is also well known that many cases do not respond and that even if they do, the results are not often permanent.

Many diseases are accompanied by this sinus of focal trouble, but then there are very few individuals who have not some point of focal infection, and only a small percentage develop those diseases that are supposed to be caused by this condition. I have reached the conclusion that instead of the latter causing the former, they are both caused by a primary toxic condition.

The sinus or antrum, is a hollow, honeycombed space in the bones of the face or head which can easily fill up with a catarrhal mucus, especially when one whose blood or lymph fluids contain much waste material. When this waste is thrown out through the nose, the disease is called catarrh, but if it collects in the sinus or antrum it will produce pressure accompanied by pain and inflammation very much as happens when the mastoid cells become filled with mucus and pus, as in mastoiditis.

The pain of an inflamed sinus is sometimes almost unbearable, and the usual treatment is to puncture it and drain these hollow spaces. This relieves the situation, but unless the patient's system is cleansed of the material that caused the trouble, there is almost always a recurrent attack after a few months.

There is only one method that I know of that will permanently empty out these cavities, and that is the fasting treatment, followed by a rigid diet to prevent this trouble returning. A citrus fruit fast should be taken for a week or ten days, and then followed by a diet absolutely free from starches and sugars of any kind. This strict diet must be continued for at least a year, and it may be necessary to take an occasional fast if there is any indication of the trouble reappearing.

Treatments with electricity or heat over the diseased area will assist in the absorption of the waste material. I am sure you will find this method is the most satisfactory one.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
QUESTION: Mrs. H. P. asks: "Will you please tell me the best diet for tubercular bowels?"
ANSWER: The diet must be well balanced, but with a minimum of starches and sugars. The most effective treatment is to use two or three warm water enemata a day. At the same time, it is necessary to build up the general strength of the body in order to overcome any form of tuberculosis. Strength can come only from exercising, so you must take calisthenic exercises, and walk increased distances each day.
QUESTION: H. F. writes: "You mention a food in your weekly menus called 'zucchini.' Will you please explain what it is, as I have never heard of it before?"

LETTER GOLF

THIS ONE'S VIOL-ENT!
Here's a musical one for today—from BASS to VIOL in eight strokes. Perhaps you can beat the par solution on page 9.

B	A	S	S
V	I	O	L

THE RULES
1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
2—You can change only one letter at a time.
3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each pump. Blat words and abbreviations don't count.
4—The order of letters cannot be changed.
One solution is printed on page 9.

ANSWER: You probably missed the menu on which a footnote was made explaining about this vegetable. Zucchini is a small Italian squash, similar to the ordinary summer squash, and may be used freely as a non-starchy vegetable if cooked by boiling or baking. As this vegetable is sometimes difficult to obtain in certain parts of the country, the ordinary summer squash may always be substituted when the zucchini is included in the weekly menus.

QUESTION: F. K. L. writes: "Kindly advise through your question and answer column what will take acid out of the blood for good?"

ANSWER: The blood is never acid until death, but most people who are ill have a lowered alkalinity of the blood. This can be corrected by living on a well-balanced diet such as I recommend in this column each week.

Bright's Disease

By Samuel W. Kelley, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio, Member Gorgas Memorial

(The following is one of a series of articles prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial as part of its Better Health and Longer Life program. President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Memorial, which has been organized and endowed by prominent doctors and laymen throughout the country to perpetuate the work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 400 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago.)

A certain group of disease conditions of the kidneys, accompanied by albumen in the urine, have been classed, speaking in a general way as Bright's disease, although they may be very different as to cause, symptoms and course.

Nephritis (inflammation of the kidneys) may be caused by germs of various kinds, for instance, those of scarlatina or other eruptive fevers, of tuberculosis and different pus-producing germs. It may come from irritation of chemical poisons, such as carbolic acid and bichloride of mercury. The disease may affect principally those tissues of the kidney which excrete water, or those that excrete chemical substances, or those that form the framework of the gland. Its course may be acute or chronic, and may be accompanied by a great variety of manifestations an results too complicated for description here.

The important things for the public to know are these:
1. Bright's disease and other kidney diseases are not mysterious or unfathomable to modern physicians.
2. Nephritis is amenable to treatment and in many instances can be entirely overcome. Other cases can be ameliorated and life prolonged.
3. While in some cases kidney disease is accompanied by definite pain, fever, dropsy and other symptoms which give warning and call for medical aid, there are numerous cases in which there are no signs to cause alarm. The disease advances so treacherously that it is not discovered until it is too late.

An examination for entering the army or navy, for securing life insurance or employment, or on account of general debility, discovers it. In case of pregnancy the examination of a careful physician may detect it. Kidney diseases furnish conspicuous examples of the wisdom of thorough examination in all cases of supposed slight complaints; and also for periodic examinations by the physician even when the patient is not aware of having any disease whatever. Many a case of Bright's disease could be discovered in its incipency and a life of invalidism or an untimely death avoided.

Normal, Ill.—(AP)—High speed on the typewriter, in the shorthand notebook and across bookkeeping ledgers will be shown here May 19, when 800 high school students, survivors of 4,000 who competed in 31 districts, enter the fifteenth annual Illinois State Commercial contest.

One of the prizes will be a free trip of a week in California. This "pium" of the contest will go to the student winning the "novice individual typing event," which went to Laverne Sloan of Harrisburg in 1927. Recognized as America's largest high school commercial contest, the meet here will bring together the finest typists, shorthand writers and bookkeepers of Illinois high schools. More than 250 high schools were represented in the district contests although complete returns have not yet been received. W. C. Maxwell, contest manager at Champaign High School, Champaign, Ill., said:

The 1928 contest, which is held under the auspices of the Illinois State Commercial Teachers association, will include competition in typewriting, shorthand and bookkeeping. Competition in each division will be open to novice and advanced teams, and to individuals. In the typewriting and shorthand contests, divisions for teams and individuals will be established according to a speed rate.

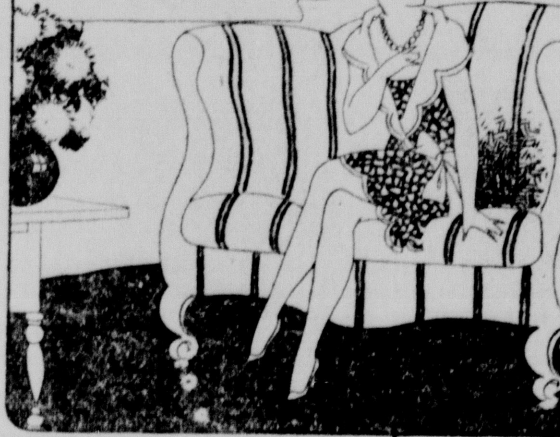

Hillsboro, winner of the 1927 contest with 79 1/2 points, is expected to send its teams to the contest again this year, competing against high school teams from Chicago to Cairo.

If you reside in Lee and adjoining counties and pay the regular rate $3.00 a year in advance for your Telegraph you may have one of our beautiful and up-to-date maps, which are worth $2.50 each.

Onion Crop Can be Increased Easily

Urbana, Ill., May 16—(AP)—Seven years of experimental work by the Illinois State Natural History Survey have shown that the onion maggot can be increased from 100 to 600 bushels an acre through use of recommended sprays for control of the onion maggot, most destructive insect pest of the crop in this state. Charles C. Compton, assistant entomologist, has reported to the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Thus encouraged, Illinois onion growers this year are making preparations to do more spraying than ever before, he said.

The recommended treatment, as worked out in the tests, consists of spraying three to five times at weekly intervals, starting when the onions are an inch out of the ground and continuing while the flies of the onion maggot are numerous in the field. The best spray thus far found consists of 1 1/2 gallons of stock lye, 10 gallons of standard Bordeaux mixture. The spray is best applied with a sprayer attachment on a garden tractor or for a small area, it may be put on by hand.

Yearly losses from the onion maggot range from 10 to 60 per cent of the crop; Illinois growers last year suffering losses up to 25 per cent.

Damage from the pest first shows up soon after the onions are through the ground in the early spring at which time plants in the row wilt and die. Underground portions of infested plants are found to be eaten into or off by a small, whitish, footless and headless maggot. Even when full grown, these maggots are less than a half inch long. Adults of the insect are small, ash-gray flies resembling the common housefly, though smaller.

When A Girl Loves

NEA SERVICE

by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED

NATHANIEL DANN, struggling artist, is engaged to VIRGINIA BREWSTER, whose father is a prominent Wall Street financier. After losing his fortune in speculation, BREWSTER dies suddenly of heart failure and leaves his daughter penniless.

NIEL begs VIRGINIA to marry him at once, but an old family friend, FREDERICK DEAN, and his daughter CLARISSA persuade her to make a temporary home with them. This decision angers NIEL, for he suspects DEAN's motives and does not like CLARISSA.

Returning to his studio he finds his model, CHIRI, waiting with hot coffee for him. He knows that CHIRI is jealous of VIRGINIA and, fearing that she will become a nuisance, he renounces her and she leaves in a temper.

Meanwhile, VIRGINIA is puzzled and unhappy by the fascinations of CLARISSA, to the effect that now she will have to marry for money and a well-to-do social position, leaving her fatherless. RUSSELL, WAITING, is concerned. She is also worried by the attentions of MR. DEAN, and resolves to tell NIEL her fears. She phones his studio in the evening and is surprised to hear the voice of CHIRI over the wire.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

VIRGINIA recognized that slow, drawing "hello." Instantly. It was the same voice that had answered her early that morning when she had called Nathaniel and been told that she had the wrong number.

"Oh, I'm sorry," she said politely. "I'm afraid I have the wrong number."

She started to replace the instrument on the stand when the other voice stopped her. "Are you Miss Brewster?" It asked.

Virginia's hand paused in mid-air. She was, for an instant, unable to move. Again doubt of Nathaniel was filling her mind with torturous conjectures. Then she lifted the instrument and brought herself to say with a brave measure of calm, "Yes, I'm Miss Brewster; may I speak to Mr. Dann?"

"Niel is out," the other voice returned brightly. "This is Chiri Mond. I recognized your voice, Miss Brewster. Shall I ask Niel to call you when he comes in?"

"No, thank you, Miss Mond. I'm going out immediately. Just tell Nathaniel I called, will you?"

When the connection was broken Chiri congratulated herself upon her luck. She had found Nathaniel at work a few minutes before, as he had told Virginia he meant to be, and as Harkness was not using her that afternoon Nathaniel had asked her to post for half an hour or so. He wanted to finish up the illustrations in which he was using her before beginning work upon the murals.

He had discovered himself to be short of colors and had gone out to get them only about a minute ahead of Virginia's call.

"Fat chance I'll tell him she called," Chiri gloated while she waited for Nathaniel's return. "And if she recognized my voice she'll have something to think about."

Virginia did indeed have something to think about. She understood that Chiri might be in the studio at this hour as a model but why had she been there so early that morning? And why had she pretended, when she answered the telephone at that time, that it was not Niel's number? Niel had answered a moment later. . . . then he must have known what Chiri had done.

Virginia's cheeks blazed with outraged pride. Could Niel deceive her for a girl like Chiri Mond?

"There must be some explanation," Virginia protested against her fear that the only true explanation was one that would break her heart. "Niel couldn't do that," she cried over and over to herself.

She was sorry after a while that she had told Chiri she was going out. It had been a gesture of pride to say that. And to pay for making it she must forego asking Niel to spend the evening with her. The lingering bit of doubt that she could not remove from her mind made it impossible for her to telephone again and let Chiri know that she had been piqued if nothing more. The girl was sharp enough to see that, Virginia surmised.

Perhaps Niel would call her. Virginia found some comfort in the thought but it left her as the day wore on and she did not hear from him.

Niel, working away at high speed, forgot the hours, until the arrival of dusk compelled him to lay aside his brushes. Then his thoughts turned to Virginia. He would have liked to go to her but he knew that he never could bring himself to be a familiar of the Dean household. No, he would wait for her to call him; he believed it was understood that she would arrange their next meeting.

Virginia did not call him. Just before dinner Clariissa had come to her room to tell her they would have company—Russell and a woman Virginia did not know.

"Sorry, dear, if it appears inconsiderate, but you see Mrs. Farley comes in rather often. I'd chuck her out tonight only it's just as well that you should meet her now as later. She's a widow Dad got chummy with while I was abroad. I rather hate her, myself."

ANNIVERSARY OF PENTECOST TO BE CONVENTION THEME

Meeting of Christian Churches of State
Opens Tomorrow

The outstanding topic for the convention that meets in the Dixon Christian Church tomorrow forenoon will be the "Pentecost Anniversary." May 27 will end the first year of the three year period, outlined at the Memphis International Convention of Christian churches, in 1926, as a time for general church revival and increase, looking toward the 1900th anniversary of the great Jerusalem occasion, when under apostolic preaching, the church was begun in full, operative form.

No legislative or executive features will characterize this sectional gathering, which is purely for voluntary counsel, fellowship, and inspiration.

W. B. Oliver, Kewanee, President of the Convention, whose address will be given at 10.30 a. m. tomorrow.

How the churches fare, progress in missions and benevolences, latest and most effective methods of work, and similar topics will occupy the convention's attention, when addresses are not being presented on themes distinctly Biblical and doctrinal.

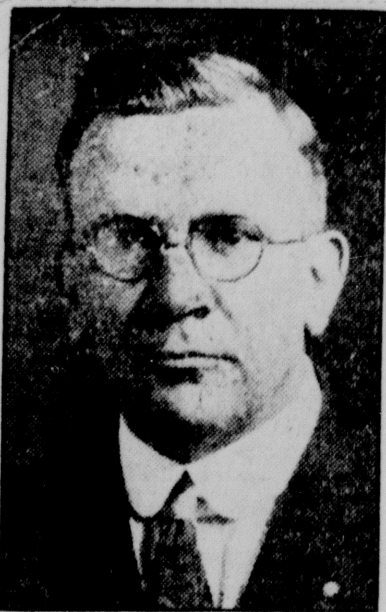

Two Major Addresses.

On the program, two major Pentecostal addresses will appear, four Pentecostal Bible Studies, and four shorter presentations which will emphasize the power and place of the Holy Spirit, as given in fullness the first Pentecost after the Resurrection, and as now to be applied to worship, evangelism, education, and cooperation.

President Oliver, whose address on "Utilizing Latent Powers" will be the first one of the Convention, has been pastor at Kewanee for over five years. Secretary C. C. Carpenter, in his tenth year at Central Church, Peoria, and before then, for fourteen years at Princeton, is to speak at 3. Mr. Carpenter has been District Secretary for the ten years of the present organization, and immediately preceding served "The Old First District" six years.

The 11:30 speaker, Stephen H. Zent of Galesburg, came to the Dixon church from his graduation at Eureka in 1897, so that he will be heard with interest and affection by those who recall his sterling service here. His subject, "The Spirit of Worship," will receive special attention from the personal fact that on May 27, his congregation in Galesburg will dedicate what is considered the most worshipfully arranged and equipped church building of the District, a great monument to Mr. Zent's faith and energy. It is a $200,000 Gothic structure of Bedford stone, whose impressive tower and memorial chimneys will contribute harmoniously to the cultural adornment of the beautiful college city of Galesburg.

C. C. Carpenter of Peoria, Secretary of the Convention. He will present the theme, "Illinois and Pentecost 1930", at 3 in the afternoon.

Plan Entertainment.

The Dixon church has recently undergone considerable improvements, in order to present an inviting appearance and highest comfort and convenience to the Convention. The re-decorated lower story, the enlarged and remodeled kitchen, an attractive inscription tablet in the east gable, and other renewals have all been undertaken under the direction, and expense of the two faithful Ladies Auxiliaries, the Aid Society, Mrs. J. Lee Eastman, Pres., and the "C. C. Circle", Mrs. F. L. Spiller, Pres.

Homes in the church membership have been opened in large numbers for the entertainment of delegates from a distance. The Convention custom in recent years is for provision of lodging and breakfast only; other meals will be obtained in the hotels and restaurants, with the ladies of St. Paul's Lutheran church serving the evening of Thursday and Friday noon.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, May 16—(AP)—Probably the greatest collection of athletic talent any single area has ever turned out is heading eastward from the balmy region of California.

The better share of it, from college ranks, already is on its way to represent Stanford, Southern California and California in the intercollegiate championships at the Harvard Stadium, May 25-26.

The rest of the track and field array that has been busting records wide open out on the west coast will be on later for the final Olympic try-outs, also to be held at Harvard.

To get a fair idea of the all-around strength of this brigade here's what a few of them have done lately for club, college and country:

Emerson (Bud) Spencer, Stanford captain, set world's record of 47 seconds flat for 400 meters.

Lee Barnes, Southern California and Olympic champion, set world's pole vault record of 14 feet, 1½ inches.

John Kuck, Los Angeles A. C., set world's shotput record of 51 feet, 5½ inches.

Charley Borah, Southern California, dashed 100 yards in 9.3-5 seconds, equalling official world's record.

Stanford's powerful squad will be on hand to defend the I. C. A. A. A.

Talk about swift and sure justice—Mrs. Ike Lark's brother, who shot a deputy sheriff yesterday evenin', was tried an' in prison before daylight as th' farm he wuz livin' on wuzn' hisn'. Anyhow th' feller that incloses a 2-cent stamp fer a dandruff cure hain't out very much an' it'll be a valuable experience fer him.

A championship and very likely succeeded by a substantial margin. The Cardinals won at Philadelphia last year with a total of 36½ points.

Golf and pole vaulting seem to go hand in hand. Ward Edmonds, Stanford's great vaulter, has just been elected captain of the college golf team. Sabin Carr, Yale's high-flying ace, doesn't handle a niblick as skillfully as he does his pole but he spends a lot of time on the links.

"The two games have this in common: they both require a keen eye, proper timing and proper wrist action," Carr says. Bob Gardner, former amateur golf champion, was a great pole vaulter at Yale—in fact a champion and record-holder.

RIPE TOBACCO LONG-FILLER CIGAR

For a Nickel! . . . Imagine!

Never since "nickel" first meant five cents has it meant mild, sweet tobacco fragrance such as it brings to you in Havana Ribbon cigars. No kidding. No loose talk. Because there isn't another nickel cigar in the world that's produced in large volume of such tobacco. No bitter-tasting under-ripe leaves; no insipid over-ripe leaves. Only fully-ripe middle leaves from choice tobacco plants, aged and cured to a mellow-mildness not excelled in any cigar for the price!

If you think this a pipe-dream, prod yourself. Dig up a nickel. Light up a Havana Ribbon and you'll realize that there sure has been some progress in cigar-making and cigar values.

Don't confuse Havana Ribbon with five-centers made from "clip-pings" or short ends of tobacco leaves that crumble and come out in your mouth. Havana Ribbon is a long-filler cigar. For five cents! Also sold in Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.
